TALK OF HARNESS HORSES.

C. FRANCE STILL INTERESTED IN THE PERFORMANCES OF THE TROTTER. The Former Owner of Red Wilkes and the Breeder of Jupe Tells of the Sale of Red Pointer to E4 Tipton for $2.50—Premise of Great Sport at Goshen's Meeting. Every old-time trotting horse man remembers W. C. France, who was one of the most prominent men in the game a few years ago. While he is not now actively engaged in breeding racing light harness horses, he watches with the keenest interest every thing that is ing in the trotting world.

At the Sturtevant House yesterday he was as chatty and bright as a youngster. The yeers have dealt leniently with him and he looks as vigorous as he did a decade ago. The man who formerly owned the noted sire, Red likes, and many others of the Wilkes breed, luding Allie and Harry Wilkes, to say nothing f other noted horses, likes to talk about the american trotter, which he stoutly maintains the greatest horse in the world

I have not attended a race meeting far away from home for some time," he said to a porter of THE SUN, "but this year I want to go to Hartford. Not so much on account of the races, although I still enjoy them, but more particularly to see the stallion Jupe and have a talk with his owner, D. A. Snell of New Bedford. Perhaps you are not aware of the fact that I bred Jupe six years ago and what is more I picked him out as a coming trotter and stock horse when he was a suckling colt. It has bees more than pleasing to me that he has some up to my expectations as a trotter and I feel certain he will prove a great sire. Mr. Snell who now owns, trains and drives him. is a man upward of so years old, and Jupe's mile last year at Charter Oak Park track in 2075 was a wonderful piece of work. I am going to Hartford especially to see him once

When Mr. France was active in trotting cirdes, he was considered one of the gamest and squarest men in the business. He spent hundreds of thousands of dollars. No price ever stood in the way of his owning a horse if the animal suited him, nor was he a stickler at the price in getting rid of one wheh was not his liking. An incident demonstrating that characteristic occurred six or eight years ago. He had started the trotter Red Pointer a race and was disappointed at his showing.

him, he remarked to several men.
Ed. Tipton, who happened to be present, quickly responded and said he would take the offer. again.
I'll take $2.50 for him if anybody wants Give me the money and the horse is yours, the veteran, smilingly extending hi hand.

The coin was handed over and the horse placed at Tipton's call. After an hour or two, however, Tipton returned to Mr. France and told him that he did not want to take advantage to the house was to take advantage. of him in that way. The borse was worth nore money and it would be better to call the more money and to deal off.

"Not a bit of it," replied Mr. France. "I have the money and you have the horse. I wont return the money and I never want to set eyes on the horse again."

Red Pointer was sold three times within the next hour at a considerable advance each time, the last purchaser paying something like $1,200 for him. He afterward got a record like $1,200 for him. He afterward got a record of 2.77%.

Jupe was foaled on Mr. France's place near Levington, in 1894. He is by Allie Wilkes, dam Annie Patchen, by Mambrino Patchen; second dam Annie Wolford, by Frank Wolford. Mr. Snell, his present owner, drove him to his record last year. He also drove the stallion an exhibition mile in the same time, 207%, at the Empire City track last fall. Considerable pressure was brought to bear on Mr. Snell to enter Jupe in the $20,000 stallion race of the New Emgland Trotting Horse Breeders' Association at Readville; but the veteran would not consider the dea for a moment. His reason was that he was too far advanced in years to drive in a race with so many contestants and he would not allow any other man to get up behind his horse. It was intimated, however, that if Jupe was right at the time, a match race might be arranged with the winner of the big stake.

Secretary A. J. Moore, of the Orange County Driving Park Association, telegraphed yesterday that Goshen is fast filling up with crack horses and noted drivers, to compete for the urses and honors at the trotting meeting this week.

"Everything," says Mr. Moore, "points to the week.

"Everything," says Mr. Moore, "points to the greatest sport seen in Goshen for 100 years."

Indications are that all the guaranteed events will have large fields of starters of such excellent and the starters of such excellent starters.

moloations are that all the guaranceed events will have large fields of starters of such excellent character that close contests are almost certain to be the result. The Arden Farms Stake, guaranteed by E. H. Harriman; the Parkway Farm Stake, guaranteed by former Senator John J. McCarty; Gen. B. F. Tracy's Stake and the Orange County Driving Park's Stakes, will be entertaining features. The late closing events have also filled with some of the best horses eligible to the various clauses.

All the plungers were almost cast into the threes of nervous prostration over the pacing race at Glens Falls on last Thursday, when Searchlight took their breath away by administering a decisive beating to his early stable companion, Anaconda. The speculative boys have been watching these noted sidewheelers ever since the Columbus Grand Circuit meeting, knowing they would come together at Glens Falls, and had laid their wires for a "killing." The wise ones who carry split second-timers were on hand every time Searchlight was taken out for work on the Columbus track and the lastest time they could eatch him in was 210 hand every time Searchlight was taken out for work on the Columbus track and the fastest time they could catch him in was 2:10. At the Buffalo meeting the great California pacer was even worse. Apparently the peet see could do was 2:14, so when the campaign reached Giens Falls the talent felt they had a chach up their sieeves that would net them all kinds of money. They knew that Anaconda is almost always in good shape and with the cyclonic McHenry in the suky there was no chance for the combination to be beaten. They made Anaconda a 2 to 1 favorite in the pools before the start.

McHenry sent Anaconda after the first heat from the stand, but Golden made a great drive pools before the start.

McHenry sent Anaconda after the first heat from the stand, but Golden made a great drive with the little hoppled pacer, Frank Bogash, and beat him through the stretch, something that is seldom done to the Californian. Bogash flew to the wire an open length ahead of the favorite in 207.

The result of this heat was a knockdown for the plungers. They rushed to the pool stand and began to hedge, making Bogash a to 4 favorite. Searchilight's victory in the second heat whipsawed the plungers and they began to pick up Searchilight tiokets. In the third heat their original favorite, Anaconda, won going the last quarter in 1016 seconds, the only very fast quarter in the face, and the mile in 2003. The bettors were dumfounded for a time and then returned to their first plan and played Anaconda to the limit, but knap McCarthy carried Searchilight to the front and won the race.

Will Logan, Jr. reached the city vesterday morning from Glens Falls. He said he never saw the circuit followers in such a quandary as the 201 pace placed them.

It was better than an old-fashioned picnic to watch them," he said. "Orrin Hickok and the entire crowd were all at sea, and the unexpected result in every heat just about knocked them out. Searchilight had been showing so badly that no one considered him to have a chance, and really I don't believe he would have been started at all if the track had not been put right for him.

Boston horsemen are not willing to give to Crescus the stailion palm just yet. They have been started at all if the track had not been nutright for him."

Boston horsemen are not willing to give to cresceus the stallion palm just yet. They are very warm on Arion, the greatest of colt wonders. George Leavitt, the well-known horseman, said at Glens Falls:

"You can talk about Cresceus, Grattan Boy, are Devil and Charley Herr, but keep an eye on Arion. They have got to beat him yet it is soing like the wind. I timed him the ther day on the Readville track, a quarter in litry seconds and the half in 1501%. He was not sent the mile out, but he was going easily and well within himself."

Arion was a wonder as a youngster, but as he has not been in training for six years it is a question in the miles of well-posted horsemen is will be able to stay a mile with the cracks of lockay.

On next Thursday or Forday, the horse world.

of loo-day.

On next Thursday or Friday the horse world will know the limit of The Abbot's speed. The Hamilias have volunteered to send him against Alix's world's trotting record of 2003, over the Readville track. For six years trainers have been shooting at the trotting queen's mark without success. If The Abbot does not lover her colors (recorge Ketcham feels confident he will be able to do it with Cresceus.

With no more rain the Speedway will be in the brushing shape to-day.

EXINGTON. Aug. 18.—The Elk's Fair and are Show closed here to-day. The meeting was a state success. One trotting race was on the card.

Wonderful Wilkes capturing the first heat in a close finish, with Spira Sprague second. The second heat went to the latter, but after that Casara settled down and landed the next three heats and the race. In the 2:17 trot the heats were even more lumbled up than in the previous races. Quick Silver won the first two heats in exciting finishes with Hunterhill. Number Fight came to the front in the third heat and then lifting, Jr. was first under the wire in each of the three following heats. Summaries: ummarles

Last Day at Old Orchard.

OLD ORCHARD, Aug. 18.—Thirteen heats, three of which were in a postponed race, were decided on the last day of the Old Orchard circuit meeting. Mazette, a mare owned at Brockton, Masattled the Old Orchard track record of 2:07%, in the 2:11 pace, which she won. The stallion William H. Mosdy won the postponed pace and lowered his mark. Miss Duke also lowered her record in wholing the 2:22 too. The 2:09 pace went off the reel to the Boston gelding, Will Leyburn. Summaries:

JOCKEY TOD SLOAN HOME AGAIN. Returns Under a Secret Contract to Pilot a

James Todhunter Sloan, one of the most noted lightweight riders in the world, arrived in New York yesterday on a flying visit from England. He bore the earmarks of the severe fall which he received recently. was otherwise in perfect health, having built up considerably during his westward trip on the Lucania. Like the other American jockeys abroad, he has had a very successful season. with further honors still in sight, as he will re turn in time for the important English fall campaign. Sloan's trip was at first supposed to be one of relaxation, as he had richly earned a holiday.

Sloan's trip was at first supposed to be one of relaxation, as he had richly earned a holiday, but it turns out that he is here under a special contract to pilot one of the candidates for the Futurity hext Saturday.

On this account he was even more reticent than usual and declined to name the horse that he has crossed the Atlantic to ride. He will go to Sheepshead Bay track to-morrow "to work out some horses," as he says, and the inference is that he is here in the interests of the Keenes, who have three star candidates eligible for the big two-year-old classic but only two jockeys to ride. The Keene regulars are Spencer and Ransoh, and the stable is likely to start Olympian, Tonamy Atlans and Cap and Bells. Eitner has a royal chance to win, but it may take the combined efforts of all three to beat the Whitney choice, which is now said to be Ballyhoo Bey. The latter colt worked so well at Saratoga that when John E. Madden brought him to the Coney Island track two days ago with his stable companions, he made no secret of the last that the prospective winner of the Futurity was in the string. It is possible that Sloan may have been reimported to ride for this stable, although it is hardly probable, as he was the victim of friction when the Whitney horses were controlled by Sidney Paget.

Should Slean ride for some other nominator the interest in the event will be redoubled, and this is saying a great deal, as no Futurity has ever exceeded the coming one as a guesting roblem. It would not be at all surprising to find Sloan up in the Flei-chmanns' colors, as this stable can now command more good horses than jockeys.

Wyntje and Bee Tie for Center Island Cup. OTSTER BAY, Aug. 18. -The last but one of the series of races for the Center Island oup among the 31-foot knockabout one-design class of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacks Club was decided off here to-day. There was a light southerly breeze, veering a point or two easterly, blewing when the boats started. The wind held when the boats started. The wind held good throughout the race and provided a most interesting contest. The craft were sent over the No. 2 inside kneckabout course. The first log was a reach, the second a beat and the third a free run home. The starters were Wyntje, Frank S. Hastings, Boos, H. P. Jacquelin and D. LeRoy Dresser, Bobs, W. A. W. Stewart; Heron, Frederick R. Coudert, Jr.; Senta, Daniel Bacon, and Mistrai, H. I. Low. Low. On the first run to the mark-boat the boats were well bunched. The Bee sailed fast with the Wyntje, her old rival, on her weather quarter. The Wyntje took the lead in the run to the next mark and heid it to the finishing line, with the Bee second and Bobs, a capital third. The result of the race to-day leaves the competition for the Center Island cup a tie on the points won between the Wyntje and Bee.

A Bloody Prizefight With Bare Knuckles. SOMERVILLE, Aug. 18.-A bloody prizefight occurred here at a late hour last night at the old West End baseball grounds between John old West End baseball grounds between John Millens and Barney Hagen, Jr., two local puglilists. The contest was fought without glores in the presence of a large crowd of local sports. When it was apparent that Millens was likely to kill Hagen, the crowd became alarmed and a messenger was secretly despatched for the police. When the latter hurried to the scene the crowd had fled and Hagen was found on the ground badly used up. It is probable that the authorities will make a determined effort to arrest all who participate in the affair.

H., Aug. 18 .- The spirit of the game outweighed all maternal consideration in the women's tournament of the Waumbek Golf Club to-day: and in the final match Mrs Andrew B. Cobb, Newton Golf, beat her fourteen-year-old daughter, Miss Cobb, of the same club, by 8 up and 2 to play, winning the handsome Waumbek cup, the chief prize of the tournament. In the second division, for the Jefferson cup, Miss Leslie May, Lakewood Golf, won her match and the prize by defeating Mrs James C. Church, Knickerbocker Gelf, by 1 up It was one of the many close matches of the season and an open question until the home green, so that both sides came in for deserved congratulations. In the afternoon a visiting team from Intervale tried conclusions with Waumbek, which has won every team match played in three seasons. The annual match for the championship of the Seabright Golf Club wound up yesterday with the final round of thirty-six holes between A. T. Dwight and F. W. Menzies. On the first eighteen holes Dwight took a lead of 5 up, scoring 80 to Menzies's 84, and he won out finally by 6 up and 5 to play.

Contrary to expectations the U. S. G. A. Executive Committee announced through its secretary yesterday the acceptance of the challenge for a team match of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, the event to be over the links of the Quebec Golf Chib, at thirty-six holes, on Sept 1. The final round of the women's championship is to be played on the same date, which will keep the U. S. G. A. officials away from Quebec, while the open tournament at Newport will occupy the attention of most of the amateurs. The team, therefore, will hardly be as representative of our best players as the winning teams of 1898 and 1899, but, judging from the easy wins of the Americans in those matches, there is no need to send an especially strong team across the border.

Women have held the links at the Misquamicut Golf Club for the entire week. Some very brilliant matches have marked the play for the different cups. All the final rounds were played yesterday. The first cup, the gift of Mrs. William Greene, of Baltimore, was won by Miss Howe of Pittsburg, who beat Miss Ethel Burnett, of Cincinnati by 3 up and 2 to play. Miss Burnett played in the last women's championship, secring 111 in the qualifying round, and failing to get in for the second cup, the gift of the Women's Golf League of Philadelphia, by a stroke. The second oup, presented by Miss Howe, was won by Mrs. Thomas Thacher of Englewood, who defeated Mrs. R. K. Clarke, of Fall River, by 9 up and 7 to play. Mrs. Thacher was the donor of the third cup, which was won by Miss Peck, of Providence, who captured the final round from Miss, Scarborough of New York by 10 up and 8 to play.

of New York by 10 up and 8 to play.

PLAINFIELD, Aug. 18.—The weekly competitions for the Presidents cup and the Green Committee challenge trophy were held on the links of the Park Golf Club this afternoon. Two matches were played for the challenge trophy. W. J. R. Thiers, holder, defeated Edgar I. Serrell, challenger, 2 up and 1 to go and Thiers defeated William A. Townsend, challenger, 6 up and 5 to go. The scores turned in for the weekly handicap eighteen holes medal play for the Presidents cup were as follows:

William R. Faber, 108, 15-58; Edgar I. Serrell, 27. William R. Faber, 108, 15-58; Edgar I. Serrell, 97, 6-91; William J. R. Thiers, 94, 0-94; H. B. Hibbard, 103, 5-94; S. St John McCuthen, 111, 15-96; Allan B. Laing, 119, 15-104.

There was gloom around the Hollywood Golf Club quarters last night, for the team lost to the Deal Golf Club in the long-expected meeting between the rivals in the North Jersey Shore Leagues ries. The lights about Hollywood, gazing over from Long Branct, seemed to be dul and nearly in eclipse last night, and the men who had played wandered about Pleuseure Bay with faces a yard long. ## Dick Grant Shows Poer Form.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.-Mayer Prinstein, world's amateur champion broad jumper, was the star attraction at the fifth annual athletic meet of St. Augustine's parish, at Charles River Park this afternoon. The Syracuse man was expected to do things in the running hop, step and jump, but as he has not had an opportunity to get into good shape since coming from Paris, he failed to get a place in the event. Two younger brothers of J. J. Connolly, the former mateur champion jumper, scooped first and second prizes, Frank Connolly, the winner had a better actual jump than Prinstein by three and one-half inches, the latter's best effort being 46 feet 4 inches. J. B. Connolly, who also umped from scratch, covered 44 feet 1114 nobes Prinstein competed in the 100-vard dash, but failed to qualify. Dick Grant, the old Harvard runner, started in the half-mile run, but was in such roor condition that he trailed sadly in the rear. The summary;

The 30-Footers at Newport.

NEWPORT, Aug. 18 .- There was a most exciting race between the 30-footers this afternoon, the Wa Wa finishing first, but having fouled the Esperanza, withdrew, which gave the race to the Hera. There was a good wind from the south and the course selected was from Rose Island out around Brenton's Reef

The Brooklyn Team B had no difficulty in defeating the Antilus by 40 runs a result brought about chiefly through the effective bowling of W. B. Kelly and the battling of R. Harrand and P. S. Scanion, who contributed 20 and 19, respectively. J. Tilley, who scored 11, not out, was the only double-figure man for the Antilus, while C. H. The New York club visited Williamsbridge for a game with Columbia Oval and was treated to a considerable surprise by being defeated by 67 runs. J. Allen played a fine linning of 52, not out, for Columbia Oval, which combined with the wonderfully effective bowling of E. Murphy, who secured 7 wieldest for 8 runs, was too much for New York. For the losers, J. E. Hoberts and A. E. Smith made a good stand for the first wicket with 24 and 17, respectively, but the rest of the team added but 14 runs from the bat. The totals were: New York, 63; Columbia Oval, 130.

Splendth batting by B. W. Powell, who hit vigorously and well for 63, enabled Nelson Lodge to play a Cawin game with Brooklyn at Prospect Park. It is quite probable, however, that, had time allowed, the Brooklyn's would have won, as when play crassed for the day they required eight runs to wim and had three wickets to fall. F. P. Hogers and G. Bennett also did good work for Nelson Lodge, while for Brooklyn the double-figure contributors were A. S. Durrant, 26; R. C. M. Browne, 22; A. Withers, 13, and D. Hogill, 12. The total's were: Nelson Lodge, 118: Brooklyn, 111 for 7 wickets.

The visitors were defeated. 95 to 85. Capt. Kelly for the visitors played a good innings for a4 runs. For Paterson, Arhur Brown and J. Kerwin carried off the batting honors, the former making a total of 35 runs and the latter 20. The local team's innings was for five wickets.

Odds and Ends of Sports.

Alexander, otherwise known as the "Russian Glant," from the land of the Czar, will make his dead there when he faces George B theer, champion lightweight westler, at the Pastime A.C., Sixy-sixth street and East layer, this afternoon. The men have agreed to wrestle Graco-Roman style, best two out of three fails. This is Alexander's first appearance in this country and his friends say he will make this interesting for his more experienced opponent. There will also be four other wrestling matches.

CORNELIUS VANDERBILT'S SLOOP WINS BY A NARROW MARGIN.

the 70-Footers Finish With Lee Rails Awash Of Newport-A Light Breeze at the Start -William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Sailed the Winning Yacht With Rare Judgment. NEWPORT, Aug. 18 .- The race to-day beween the 70-foot sloops in the series for the $1,000 cup offered by the Newport Yacht Racing Association was won by Cornelius Vanderbilt's Rainbow, she defeating the Virginia. sailed by William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., by minute and 33 seconds. It was a good rac rom start to finish. At first the winds were rather light, but the finish was in a whole sall breeze, and with the lee rail awash. It was the seventh race of the series and the points for the cup now stand: Yankee s, Mineola s, Rainbow 2. Virginia 1. Early in the morning it looked as if there would be no race. There was scarcely a breath of air, but the committee decided to go ou to the lightship and trust to a wind springing up. The yachts were all ready at 10 o'clock and under tow of the tenders stood out to the lightship. On the Rainbow Mr. Vanderbilt Alice Blight and Robert Goelet. On the Virginia was Mrs. Herman Oelrichs. H. B. Duryea, H. P. Whitney and W. McCook were on the Yankee. Mr. Belmont had no guests on the Mineola. Ralph N. Ellis and Woodbury Kane acted on the Regatta Committee, the steam yacht Scout serving them.

After arriving at the lightship it was almost flat calm and an hour elapsed before there was any sign of wind. it came out from the south and code flag D was set, indicating that the course would be the triangle, twice over, the revers of yesterday. This made the first mark 55 miles dead to windward, the second leg a run, and a reach to the lightship. The Scou took up her position, and at 12:15 the committee gave the warning signal. All the boats carried No. 1 club topsails and, with the exception of the Rainbow, baby jib topsails. The Rainbow set a working jib topsail and it did good work. There was some manœuvring for position, more than in any race in the series, and the Rainbow got the best of it, keeping the Mineola bow got the best of it, keeping the Milicola under her lea. As the starting signal was made she rounded up behind the stern of the committee boat and crossed first by fourteen seconds. The Mineola was next and the Yankee to leeward, all three inside of twenty-eight seconds. All crossed on the starboard tack, but the Rainbow had no sooner crossed than she tacked ship and headed for the Narragansett shore. The Mineola had the Yankee at her mercy and the two stood out to to sea for some distance. The Mineola saw that the Rainbow was getting better wind and she came about followed by the Yankee, but the latter soon put to sea again and continued chiefly on this tack to the mark. The Virginia just managed to cross ahead of the handicap signal and put after the Rainbow, after a short hitch to sea. It was soon seen that the shore was the right move and while the Rainbow was bowling along at a rapid gait, with a good list, the others were standing up straight, hardly appearing to move. Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., foliowed his cousin, and making two good tacks, made up the four minutes he lost at the start, and at the mark was second boat. The Yankee was badly left. The mark was rounded as follows:

The Rainbow rounded out by the Lightship and took a short hitch before taking the port tack for the Narragansett shore. The Mineola headed up and continued on followed by the Virginia. The Yankee had but one thing to do, to go to sea and run chances of getting a different slant of wind. This did not happen, and on the wind the second time she again lost ground. Under the shore the three boats got a fine slant of wind and in this the Mineola gained considerably on the Virginia. All three boats were sailing for all they were worth and Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., deserves great credit for his good judgment and fine seamanship. The mark was rounded as follows:

Rainbow 4 35 59 Vergina 4 42 40
Mineola 4 55 46 Yankee 4 42 40
It was a reach again to the finish line. The wind had increased considerably and it was the only leg of the course that the yachts threw any water. They heeled away over and at times the lee rail was a foot under water. It made a very pretty picture, the first three boats being about equal distance apart, while the Yankee was far astern. There was but one boat out to see the finish, the Squib from Bristol, with Capt. Nat Herreshoff on board. After crossing the finish line head sails were taken in and the yachts went leisurely into the harbor. Mr. Belmont boarded his tender at the Lightship and left for New York. ROWING ON THE HUDSON.

Hoboken Association Regatta a Success-Na val Cutter Crews Race.

Good management, smooth water and close races combined to make a success of the secend annual regatta of the Hoboken Amateur Rowing Association held yesterday on the Guttenburg course, Hudson River. Except for the wash of occasional steamers the course which began at the annex of the Atlantic B. C. opposite Seventy-second street, this city, and finished opposite Ninety-second street was as smooth as glass, and good enough for shell racing. A large crowd watched the finishes from an excursion barge, and the lower loop of the Hudson County Boulevard was lined with spectators, who had a good view of the whole course. The usual flotilla of clul craft was missing from the scene as the Nassau B. C. was the only organization to charter a tug. The Nassau boys, however, made noise enough for a fleet when their single and louble scullers came home in front. The race for Naval Reserve cutters was the pectacular event of the day. Two crews from the New Jersey division, which trains on the Portsmouth, competed. The boys made | Gore and even money that Wrenn would not a picturesque appearance in their white suits. and the finished manner in which the winners had as his guests Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Miss | propelled their unwieldy craft was a revelation to the oarsmen. Though apparently the men rowed out to the last ounce, directly they crossed the line the ten oars were raised to the salute, and the winners cheered the losing crow and the rowing association as lustily as if they had not pulled a stroke. The race for the Daab Challenge cup, oper only to associated clubs, fell through, as no crew appeared against the Rosedales, holders of the trophy. They rowed over the course Although the prizes were pretty equally divided between the Hudson and Harlem contingents, the latter are entitled to the honors of the day, as in the only two events in which Harlem men met Hoboken scullers the New York boys were successful. A good deal of money changed hands on the result of the senfor double gig race The Harlem and Nassau pairs were both fancied, but Mehrhoff and Crawford, wearing the colors of the latter club won easily at the finish. There were neither fouls nor protests and nothing occurred to man the pleasure of a good day's sport. Summary:

JUNIOR SINGLE GIGS.

The Harlem and Nassau crews got away together, slightly in advance of the Atlantics, and for 200 yards they had a rare struggle, with nothing to choose between them. The Nassaus were sculling in more effective style than their rivals and gained a length at the quartermile mark. Maher, the Harlem stroke, showed signs of distress, and at half a mile the Nassaus were three lengths in the lead, while the flar-lems were five lengths in front of the Atlantics. The positions remained the same at three-quarters. The Nassaus crossed the finish line three lengths before the Harlems, who took the place by eight lengths. Time, 6 minutes 45 seconds.

Gore was confident of winning and did not believe there was much chance of his losing a set to Wrenn, even though the latter had beaten ex-Champion "Bob" Wrenn, the erstwhile conquerer of Goodbody and Eaves, the previous British visitors to Newport. Gore was slow at getting started, but after losing the first two games with ridiculous case, he bulled himself together, ran three straight without much difficulty and had 40-love on the next, though Wrenn finally pulled it out. Gore got the lead again at 5-4 and had 30-love in his favor, only to lose the game and ultimately the set by 9-7, although he had the vantage game each time at 6-5 and 7-6. Wrenn, craftily coached by his famous brother, used clever judgment in his play and was constantly forcing the Britisher's backhand side, which is his weak point, Gore showed a ter-rific forehand drive that was generally good won seally at the fluish.
